Spring Bird Migration Hike

We are celebrating International Spring Migration Day on May 9 with a hike to Sugar Creek Bluff. The Mississippi Flyway is host to an incredible number of feathered summer visitors from near and far. Please join us for this special hike. We will meet at the Ferryville Village Hall at 7:30 AM for treats and visiting, carpool to the trailhead, hike for 2 hours with expert guides, and reconvene at the Village Hall around 10:30 for the showing of the award winning 25 minute film, “Mysteries of the Driftless”. Families are encouraged to attend this community activity. The trail is fairly level for the hike, and you are welcome to join us for the movie in the event that you cannot attend the hike. This hike is co-sponsored by Ferryville Tourism Council, the Mississippi Valley Conservancy, and Mayo Health Systems and is part of the MVC’s Linked to the Land series

For more information, “like” us on Facebook at facebook.com/ferryvillewi or check www.visitferryville.com Ferryville remains the smallest Bird City in Wisconsin, and this sponsored hike is one of our birding activities. Bird lists specific to this area will be available at the Village Hall.
